"I do not think there is any one who more values the labours of Parliamentary Committees than myself. They obtain for the country an extraordinary mass of valuable information which probably would not otherwise be at hand, or available; and formed as they necessarily are of chosen men from the two most important bodies of the State, their Reports are pregnant with prudent and sagacious suggestions for the improvement of the administration of affairs."—LORD BEACONSFIELD.—"Hansard's Debates," vol. 235, page 1478.

GENERAL INDEX TO THE THIRD SERIES, 1830-1891.

The want of a General Index to the important period since 1830 has often been commented on and deplored. The expense and magnitude of the work, and the uncertainty of the support that might be obtained from the sale of copies, has hitherto prevented any publisher from undertaking it. Messrs P. S. King & Son, having received encouragement from many quarters, have made arrangements to publish a General Index to the whole 356 volumes forming the Third Series of "Hansard's Debates," from the year 1830 down to the end of Session 1891, provided a sufficient number of Subscribers are obtained to justify them in the very heavy expense and risk. The Index will be a full one, giving both Names of the Speakers, with the Debates they took part in, also Subjects of Debates, Bills, &c., with dates, and will be similar to the Annual General Indexes of these "Debates" as issued in recent years.

The Indexing of the volumes has already been completed to the end of 1876.

"The results of observations made by Prof. Robert Wallace are embodied in this well-illustrated volume, the appearance of which is opportune in view of the interesting problems at present associated with this portion of our Colonial Empire. . . . More than a dozen coloured maps add much to the value of the volume, and some of the illustrations are specially attractive."—Times.

PART II.

“I do not think there is any one who more values the labours of Parliamentary Committees than myself. They obtain for the country an extraordinary mass of valuable information which probably would not otherwise be at hand, or available; and formed as they necessarily are of chosen men from the two most important bodies of the State, their Reports are pregnant with prudent and sagacious suggestions for the improvement of the administration of affairs.”—LORD BEACONSFIELD.—“Hansard’s Debates,” vol. 235, page 1478.

A HISTORY of the ENGLISH POOR LAW.—Vols. I. and II.

In connection with the Legislation and other Circumstances affecting the Condition of the People. By Sir GEORGE NICHOLLS, K.C.B.; Poor Law Commissioner and Secretary to the Poor Law Board. New Revised Edition, with a Biography and Portrait of the Author. 2 vols. 30s.

This new edition is edited by Mr H. G. Willink, a grandson of the author, and Chairman of the Bradfield Poor Law Union. He incorporates in it the manuscript notes and corrections made by Sir George Nicholls in his own copy, and has written an interesting biography of the author, which appears as a preface to Vol. I. A new index has been made and placed at the end of Vol. II.

"No apology is needed for the appearance of this handsome new edition."—Daily News.

"Nicholl's work is valued for the light that it throws upon the abuses of the old Poor Law."—Manchester Guardian.

"The work reads as freshly as if only just written, and the life of the author by Mr H. G. Willink adds to the value of the work, a perusal of which is a complete education on the history of the poor relief in England."—Local Government Journal.

"A more interesting book, dealing with a matter more generally looked askance at than Sir George Nicholls' remarkable work, which reaches chronically till 1853, it would be hard to name."—Birmingham Daily Gazette.

A HISTORY OF THE ENGLISH POOR LAW.—Vol. III.

Being a Supplementary Volume to the above, brought from 1834 up to the present time. By THOMAS MACKAY, Author of the "English Poor," and Editor of the Volume of Essays, "A Plea for Liberty: an Argument against Socialism." Demy 8vo, cloth, 640 pages. 21s.

"The work of a man most fully qualified, both by economic principle and by practical experience. . . . The reader feels that he is in the hands of a clear thinker, open-minded, and at the same time master of his facts."—Spectator.

"An exhaustive and remunerative study."—Local Government Journal.

"Every reader who has tramped with Nicholls along the highways and byways of Poor Law history will be grateful for the easier and more attractive route provided in the philosophic treatise of Mr Mackay."—Speaker.

OUR TREATMENT OF THE POOR.

By W. CHANCE, M.A., Author of "The Better Administration of the Poor Law," "Children under the Poor Law," &c. Crown 8vo, cloth, 240 pp. 2s. 6d.

CONTENTS:—Introduction—A Model Union and its Lessons—Old Age Pensions—The English Poor Law and Friendly Societies—Public and Private Charity—In Defence of Poor Law Schools—Appendices—Index.

"At a time when the Poor Law is once more the subject of impassioned denunciation in respect to its treatment of both young and old, it would, we think, be well if the public could be got to study with due seriousness the facts contained in this volume. They are to be learnt nowhere else more concisely or convincingly. Mr Chance is no mere doctrinaire. His book is full of valuable evidence as well as of close reasoning. . . . This volume should certainly be read by every guardian of the poor."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"Mr Chance's book contains much that may be read with advantage by all who are concerned for the welfare of the poor."—Spectator.

"The volume presents one aspect of the Poor Law administration of the very highest importance, and supplies a series of facts and considerations which ought not to be ignored."—City Press.

"For those interested in Poor Law administration this book will be found invaluable."—Bristol Times and Mirror.

"Mr Chance has given us a book which is worthy of the consideration of every Poor Law guardian who is anxious to examine the different phases of this difficult problem."—Devon and Exeter Gazette.

"Mr Chance is able to show clearly what has been accomplished and is now in process of development, and for that reason his book is welcome."—Poor Law Officers' Journal.

HOW THE ENGLISH WORKMAN LIVES.

Being the Experiences and Reflections of a German Coal-Miner (Ernst Dückers-hoff) in England. Translated by C. H. d'E. Leppington. Crown 8vo. 1s.

The author, who shares the life of the English workman, is thus peculiarly qualified to present a true and unprejudiced account of the conditions and social life of the British workman. Writing for a German, not an English public, he allows himself to accentuate positive ameliorations in the life of our masses with a frankness which an English writer, bent on reforming it altogether, might deem scarcely opportune.

"There is a piquant interest in this little volume. We only trust that the author's old friends at home will not find his little book so alluring that it will lead to a notable increase in the number of immigrant pitmen 'made in Germany.'"—Standard.

"Its novel point of view constitutes the special value of this little work."—Birmingham Daily Gazette.

"In this little book the author compares his impressions of the two countries. The result is instructive and amusing."—Manchester Guardian.

"This modest little book is brimful of suggestiveness from cover to cover; and its issue, in our own language and in a popular form, was a decidedly happy thought."—Leamington Chronicle.

THE COST OF MUNICIPAL TRADING.

By DIXON H. DAVIES. A Paper read before the Society of Arts, the Attorney-General, Sir Richard Webster, G.C.M.G., Q.C., M.P., in the Chair. Containing the discussion thereon, and Five Explanatory Diagrams. 2s.

"Carlyle, in his usual epigrammatic style, once said, 'You will have some people wrong on everything and all the people wrong on something, but you will not get all the people wrong on everything,' and this booklet is a good illustration of the situation. Mr Davies certainly makes out a plausible case for prohibiting the development of municipal trading when he points to the enormous local indebtedness of the country. The paper is, in some respects, a strong indictment of municipal mismanagement, and it is well worth careful study."—Local Government Chronicle.

"Much depends upon the manner in which this matter is handled, and a useful aid to a complete understanding of the development of municipal trading enterprise can be obtained from the publication under review."—Electrician.

TAXATION, LOCAL AND IMPERIAL; AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

By J. C. GRAHAM, Barrister-at-Law. Third Edition. Revised and brought up to date by M. D. Warmington, Barrister-at-Law. Cloth, crown 8vo. 2s.

This new edition, which discusses the question of taxation as applied to both its imperial and local aspects, will prove most useful to those persons engaged in the administration of public affairs, as well as instructive to any one who is interested in the subject of taxation and local government.

"For a concise and readable history of the various rates and taxes, together with some useful statistics concerning them, this book may be thoroughly recommended, for it is clear and to the point."—Local Government Chronicle.

"We recommend the book as a timely and serviceable publication, having the promise of exercising a considerable influence in the discussion of a very important matter."—South Wales Daily News.

"Worthy of careful and attentive study."—Birmingham Daily Gazette.

CRIMINAL APPEAL.

The Necessity for Criminal Appeal, as illustrated by the Maybrick Case, and the Jurisprudence of various Countries. Edited by J. H. LEVY. 610 pages. 10s. 6d. net.

PART I.—The Maybrick Case—Contains a Revised Report of the Trial of Mrs Maybrick, with Explanatory and Critical Notes, Speeches of her Counsel, Sir Charles Russell (now Lord Russell of Killowen, Lord Chief Justice of England), together with Essays on the circumstances and events relating to the case, before and after the Trial, and new evidence collected since the verdict.

PART II.—The Reparation of Judicial Errors—Contains Essays on the "Reparation of Judicial Errors" in various Countries.

"I strongly recommend every person at all interested in the case of Mrs Maybrick, and indeed in criminal appeal at all, to procure a copy of the exceedingly interesting volume wherein Mr J. H. Levy has set forth the full details of what I have ever considered a terrible miscarriage of justice."—Pelican.

"Persons who are in favour of the institution of a Court of Criminal Appeal will find arguments in plenty in this copulent compilation."—Daily Mail.

"Whether one agrees with Mr Levy or not, no sensible person can deny that the Home Secretary's compromise in commuting the sentence to imprisonment for life was illogical, and all humane and thoughtful men will agree with him as to the urgent necessity in this country of a Court of Criminal Appeal."—Daily News.
